Easton Council on Aging

Established as a Town Department in 1972, the Easton Council of Aging serves all of Easton's elderly residents, age 60 and older. Services are provided with funding from municipal taxes, State and Federal grants along with private donations and volunteer services. Because of this support, many of the programs are offered free or at a nominal charge to our elderly citizens.

On a monthly basis, the Easton Council on Aging mails a newsletter, The Coordinator to Easton's elderly and interested citizens. The newsletter includes information on programs and recreational activities and important topical information for seniors.

The Council on Aging offers many services and programs dealing with Transportation, Nutrition, Finances, Outreach, Health and Recreation.

Most Council of Aging programs are held at Frothingham Hall Community Center as well as the Robert J. Keefe Center at Parker Terrace or in the Jerry J. Fitzgerald Community Center at Elise Circle, off Baldwin Street, North Easton.

Some programs are also located at the Council on Aging Office, located at the Town Offices, 136 Elm Street, North Easton.

Please see the following page for a more detailed listing of services and programs offered.
